

On behalf of the The Foreign Language Association of Virginia (FLAVA), I would like to introduce myself as the new Exhibits Coordinator, taking over the position from Terry Hathaway. I hope to continue the excellent service she provided to the organization and do encourage you to contact me with any questions. At this time I would also like to extend to you an invitation to exhibit at our state conference, which will be held October 8th and 9th, 2010, at the Holiday Inn Select –Koger Conference Center in Richmond, Virginia.

We welcome over 600 foreign language educators each year to our state conference: teachers and supervisors in elementary school through higher education modern and classical languages, ESL, and ASL.

Our exhibits area is centrally located so that all attendees can easily find and move around your exhibit. Additionally, our sessions are scheduled to provide ample time for participants to visit you and get to know your product or service. This year, in anticipation of greater demand for exhibit space and a Friday evening reception to be held within the exhibits hall, we have once again extended the exhibits area.

For your convenience, I have attached four forms, which provide you information about our conference, as well as opportunities to sponsor high-profile activities of the conference or to place an advertisement in our program. I encourage you to look at our website, <http://www.flavaweb.org/>, where you will find additional information and have an opportunity to see our promotion of last year's exhibitors.

Each year educators in attendance stress that our exhibitors provide a crucial contribution to the overall success of the conference. We are very much looking forward to your participation again in the coming year. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks so much,

Becky
